

The Advisor

You believe that specific feedback is the best way to help your students learn, and dedicate your time to provide such feedback.

At work

You always endeavor to provide personalised feedback to help students understand how to improve.

At home

You are attentive to others in all aspects of your life. Outside of work, you probably enjoy giving feedback to others to help them grow.

Favorite SLS tool

You love that the Aggregated Students Responses page allows you to provide similar feedback for multiple students with the same answers.

Helping others

Add tips on how to give better feedback to their students in the Activity Notes section, which is only visible to teachers.
